AD SIZES

PLEASE NOTE: When a printer trims pages, there is a small amount of shifting that occurs. The Bleed and Margin ensure optimal trimming results by accounting for this. All elements meant to extend to the page edge should be extended beyond the edge to create a Bleed, which is represented by the purple box. Important elements should not be placed outside of the Margin, to ensure they will not be trimmed off. The Margin is represented by the Yellow Box.

*If your image is going to print on the back cover, please account for the address printing area. There should be no images or text in this area. This area is represented by the grey box.
